CHAPTER ONE

INTRODUCTION

1.1 Statement of the Problem

Choosing the right content niche is a major challenge for many aspiring content creators, especially on platforms like YouTube.

This project addresses several key problems:

Problems Solved by Final Data

1. Lack of clear niche knowledge
2. Uncertainty about market demand
3. No clear understanding of target audience
4. Poor understanding of niche scalability
5. Fear of competition within a niche
6. Unrealistic expectations of quick success
7. Lack of clarity in content ideas
8. Lack of proper guidance
9. Inconsistent goals and direction
10. Lack of confidence in chosen niche

Problems Solved by System Algorithm

1. Difficulty in choosing the right niche
2. Overwhelming number of niche options
3. Conflicting personal interests
4. Confusion between passion and profitability
5. Time wasted researching niches
6. Fear of making the wrong choice
7. Overthinking the decision process
8. Difficulty making final decisions
9. Influence of trends over personal suitability
10. Difficulty identifying personal strengths

1.2 Objectives

General Objective

To develop a system that helps users select suitable content niches based on their preferences and constraints.

Specific Objectives

- Develop a Java-based recommendation system
- Analyze user inputs such as skills, interests, time, and goals
- Generate accurate and ranked niche recommendations (focused on YouTube niches)

1.3 System Limitations

- Uses a fixed dataset (no real-time updates)
- No external API integration
- Limited to predefined niches

1.4 Scope of the System

The system focuses on helping users identify suitable YouTube niches based on predefined data and user inputs. It is designed to help new content creators identify profitable and suitable content niches based on their interests, skills, audience demand, and market trends. The system analyzes data from different platforms and provides recommendations that can help creators grow faster and reach the right audience.

Scope...

1. User Registration and Profile Management

The system allows content creators to:

- Create accounts
- Enter their interests, skills, hobbies, and preferred content platforms

2. Interest and Skill Analysis

The system evaluates:

- User interests
- Talents and expertise
- Content preferences
- Previous experience

This helps match creators with niches that fit their abilities and passion.

3. Trend and Market Analysis

The system collects and analyzes:

- Trending topics
- Audience engagement
- Popular hashtags
- Search volume
- Competition level

The goal is to recommend niches with high growth potential and manageable competition.

4. Niche Recommendation Engine

The core function of the system is to:

- Generate niche suggestions
- Rank niches based on popularity and suitability
- Recommend sub-niches for better targeting
- Suggest content categories such as:
 - Gaming
 - Education
 - Technology
 - Fashion
 - Fitness
 - Finance
 - Entertainment

5. Platform-Based Recommendations

The system can recommend niches depending on the creator's preferred platform:

- YouTube
- TikTok
- Instagram
- Facebook
- Blogging websites

Different platforms may have different audience trends and opportunities

6. Competitor Analysis

The system may analyze successful creators within a niche by:

- Tracking engagement rates
- Monitoring follower growth
- Identifying content strategies
- Evaluating posting frequency

This helps users understand market opportunities.

7. Content Idea Suggestions

The system can suggest:

- Video ideas
- Post topics
- Keywords
- Titles
- Hashtags

This helps creators start producing content immediately.

8. Performance Tracking

After creators begin posting content, the system may:

- Track audience growth
- Monitor engagement
- Analyze performance statistics
- Recommend niche adjustments

1.5 Work Breakdown

- Requirement analysis
- System design
- Algorithm development
- Implementation in Java
- Testing and evaluation

CHAPTER 2

PROPOSED SYSTEM

2.1 Overview

The system collects user input (such as interests, skills, time availability, and goals), processes the data, and generates ranked niche recommendations using a rule-based algorithm.

2.2 Functional Requirements

FR1 — User Registration The system shall allow a new user to create an account by entering a unique username and a password. The system shall auto-generate a unique User ID (format: USR + random number) and reject registration if the username already exists in the persistent file store (`niche_users.txt`). Empty usernames and passwords shall not be accepted.

FR2 — User Login The system shall authenticate a user by matching the entered username (case-insensitive) and password against records stored in `niche_users.txt`. If authentication succeeds, the system shall greet the user and start the niche recommendation workflow. If it fails, the system shall display a clear error message.

FR3 — Admin Login and Panel The system shall support a separate admin login that matches credentials against `niche_admins.txt`. On successful admin login, the system shall provide an Admin Panel with four capabilities: view all registered users, initiate password recovery for a target user, display the help guide, and logout.

FR4 — Default Admin Bootstrapping If no admin file exists or the file is empty, the system shall automatically create a default admin account with username `admin` and password `admin123` so the system is always accessible.

FR5 — Background Skill Selection After login, the system shall present the user with a menu of eight background skill options: Technology and Digital Skill, Business and Financial Skill, Creative and Media Skill, Communication and Social Skill, Science and Research Skill, Health and Physical Skill, Agriculture and Practical Skill, and None.

FR6 — None Background Skill Routing When the user selects "None", the system shall collect the user's education level (Under 12 or Over 12). If Under 12, the system shall offer a 7-item Area of Interest menu. If Over 12, the system shall ask whether the user wants content related to their department. If yes, a 5-department menu shall be presented; if no, the 7-item interest menu shall be presented.

FR7 — User Profile Collection After skill/path selection, the system shall collect seven profile attributes from the user through menu-driven prompts: Special Character (Creator, Thinker, or Educator), Age Group (Under 18 or Over 18), Daily Time Availability (0-4 Hours, 4-8 Hours, or Full Time), Primary Goal (Audience, Income, or Both), Startup Income in Birr (three tiers), Internet Speed (Fast or Moderate), and Content Complexity (Low, Medium, or High).

FR8 — Core Niche Recommendation The system shall use the collected background skill/path and profile attributes to determine a Core Niche through the RecommendationEngine. The engine shall support at least 12 domain-specific calculation methods, each implementing a multi-variable decision matrix (ranging from 6 to 216 paths) to resolve one of the available core niches such as Business, Finance, Technology, Creative, Health & Fitness, Sports, Education, and others.

FR9 — Sub-Niche Recommendation After the Core Niche is determined, the system shall further resolve a specific Sub-Niche through a secondary decision matrix, using additional profile variables (startup income, internet speed, complexity, etc.) to produce a precise sub-category such as Freelancing, Dropshipping, App Reviews & AI Tools, Bodybuilding & Nutrition, True Crime, and so on.

FR10 — Recommendation Result Display The system shall display the final recommendation to the user in a formatted dialog box showing the username, the resolved Core Niche, and the resolved Sub-Niche.

FR11 — Password Recovery with Security Token The system shall support a password reset flow through the AccountSecurity class. When initiated, the system shall verify the account identity, generate a 6-digit random security token, display it to the user via a dialog, and allow a new password to be finalized if the account is verified.

FR12 — Admin Password Recovery Action An admin shall be able to trigger password recovery for any registered user by entering the target username in the Admin Panel. The system shall invoke the AccountSecurity token flow on behalf of the admin.

FR13 — View All Registered Users An admin shall be able to view a list of all registered users including their usernames and user IDs loaded from the persistent file.

FR14 — User Data Persistence The system shall persist all registered user records to `niche_users.txt` and all admin records to `niche_admins.txt` using append-mode file writing. Records shall be stored as comma-separated values (ID, username, password) and reloaded on each login attempt.

FR15 — Help System The system shall provide a Help screen accessible from both the main menu (option 3) and the Admin Panel. The help dialog shall explain the system's workflow, list all available background skills, and provide admin contact information.

FR16 — Input Validation on All Menus Every menu prompt (safeMenu) shall validate that the user enters a number within the valid option range. Non-numeric input and out-of-range numbers shall both produce a warning dialog and re-prompt the user without crashing.

FR17 — Graceful Cancellation If the user dismisses or cancels any input dialog (closes the window), the system shall treat it as an intentional cancellation and exit the current operation cleanly without throwing an unhandled exception to the user.

FR18 — Duplicate Username Prevention Before saving a new user, the system shall scan all existing records in `niche_users.txt` to confirm the requested username is not already taken, performing a case-insensitive comparison.

2.3 Non-Functional Requirements

NFR1 — GUI-Based Interaction The system shall deliver all user interactions exclusively through Java Swing `JOptionPane` dialog boxes. No command-line input shall be required from the user; all prompts, menus, results, and error messages shall appear as GUI dialogs.

NFR2 — Input Response Time The system shall display each menu, validate input, and transition to the next prompt without any perceptible delay. Since the system performs no network calls and all file operations are local, every response shall complete in under one second under normal hardware conditions.

NFR3 — Recommendation Accuracy The recommendation engine shall deterministically produce the same Core Niche and Sub-Niche for any identical combination of input variables. There shall be no randomness or ambiguity in the output given the same profile.

NFR4 — File-Based Persistence (No Database) The system shall use plain text files for all data storage, with no dependency on a database server, JDBC driver, or external data store. This ensures the system runs on any Java-capable machine without additional infrastructure setup.

NFR5 — Self-Contained Deployment The system shall run as a single compiled Java package (package `tt`) with no external libraries beyond the Java Standard Library and `javax.swing`. It shall be deployable by placing the compiled classes on any JVM-compatible machine.

NFR6 — Modular Class Design The system shall be structured into clearly separated classes (Profile, User, Admin, Niche, Result, AccountSecurity, DataLoader, RecommendationEngine, mm) each with a single, well-defined responsibility. No class shall directly access another class's private fields.

NFR7 — Error Resilience All file I/O operations (read and write) shall be wrapped in try-catch blocks. Any `IOException` shall be caught and surfaced to the user through an error dialog rather than causing a silent failure or application crash.

NFR8 — Scalability of the Decision Engine The RecommendationEngine shall be structured so that new path branches (new background skills, departments, or interests) can be added by extending the router's if/else-if chain and implementing a new calculate*Core/Sub method pair, without modifying existing logic.

NFR9 — Password Storage User and admin passwords shall be stored as plain text in the local data files. (Note: this is the current implementation state — a future upgrade should apply hashing for production use.)

NFR10 — Role-Based Access Separation Admin capabilities (view all users, recover passwords, access Admin Panel) shall only be accessible after a successful admin login. Regular users shall have no access to admin functions at any point in the workflow.

NFR11 — Maintainable Code Structure All major decision branches in the RecommendationEngine shall be implemented as named private methods (e.g., `calculateBusinessCore()`, `calculateTechSub()`) rather than inline conditions, ensuring each logical unit is independently readable, testable, and modifiable.

NFR12 — Cross-Platform Compatibility Because the system uses only standard Java APIs (`java.io`, `java.util`, `javax.swing`) and plain text file storage, it shall run without modification on any operating system (Windows, macOS, Linux) that has a JRE installed.

NFR13 — Unique User ID Generation Each new user registration shall be assigned a randomly generated ID in the format `USR` followed by a numeric value, providing a basic unique identifier without requiring a sequential counter or database sequence.

NFR14 — Consistent Menu Navigation The `safeMenu()` utility method shall be used consistently for all multi-option prompts throughout the system, ensuring uniform validation behaviour, consistent dialog appearance, and a single point of change if the menu style needs to be updated.

2.4 Actors and System Attributes

Actors

- User
- Admin

Attributes

User Inputs (time, goals, skills, interests, etc.)

- System Data (predefined niches)

2.5 System Design / Architecture

The system is divided into four main modules:

1. Input Module
Handles user data collection and validation
2. Processing Module
Processes user inputs and prepares them for analysis
3. Recommendation Engine
Core logic that evaluates and ranks niches
4. Output Module
Displays recommended niches to the user

2.7 Class Diagram

Main classes in the system:

- User → stores user information and preferences
- Niche → represents niche data and attributes
- RecommendationEngine → processes and ranks niches
- InputHandler → manages user input and validation

2.8 Implementation (Java Code)

The system is implemented using Java, following a modular approach. Each component (input handling, processing, recommendation) is separated into classes to ensure maintainability and clarity.

CHAPTER THREE

CONCLUSION & FUTURE WORK

3.1 Conclusion

The system successfully addresses the problem of niche confusion by providing structured and data-driven recommendations. It simplifies decision-making and helps users choose niches that align with their skills and goals.

3.2 Future Work

- Integrate AI/ML for smarter recommendations
- Develop a mobile or web-based version
- Incorporate real-time data and trends
- Expand niche database
